--	----

Dear readers,

Fall 2018 is an exciting time to be a subscriber to National Consumer Law Center publications. NCLC is releasing two new first editions, Home Foreclosures and Mortgage Servicing and Loan Modifications. Together with Mortgage Lending (2d ed.), these books comprise NCLC's new "Mortgages and Foreclosures" library that keep you current on all the fast-changing aspects of mortgage loans: origination, servicing, loan modification, and foreclosure. We look forward to hearing what you think of these new titles.

This season also brings the newest edition of Surviving Debt: Expert Advice for Getting Out of Financial Trouble, just in time for NCLC to kick-off its 50th anniversary celebration. NCLC's classic guide for consumers and counselors, this new edition contains precise, practical, and up-to-date legal advice from the nation's consumer law experts. Some of the topics include: stopping debt harassment, dealing with credit card, medical, home mortgage, and student loan debt, collection lawsuits, repossessions, scams to avoid, and bankruptcy rights. This 50th NCLC anniversary edition covers more topics than ever before, but is a slimmer volume available at a lower price point, making now the perfect time to take advantage of bulk pricing options and to buy several as a holiday gift for paralegals, new consumer attorneys, clients, counselors, clergy, or other community leaders. For the first time ever, Surviving Debt is also available in digital format on the NCLC Digital Library to all subscribers to the complete set of consumer law treatises.
